DOCUMENTARIES

LOOSE CHANGE 2:

Warning: Contains disturbing scenes.

Was 9/11 a government set up? You decide.

Everyone's talking about it so we thought you'd like to see the film that started out as a home movie and became one of the most downloaded documentaries of all time. Was 9/11 a government set up? Were the twin towers brought down in a controlled explosion for an insurance payday? These questions and more are posed in this controversial film, seen by millions, derided by many. Now it's your chance to make up your own mind.

THE F WORD:

The potty mouthed chef; Gordon Ramsey hosts his own show.

The celebrity chef presents a show full of recipes and tips, plus the odd celebrity here and there. Wannabe chefs are challenged to produce a three-course meal for 50 customers. If the customers don't like it they don't pay. In this episode from series two, the potty-mouthed one faces a cook-off with Janet Street Porter, tests Cliff Richard on his own wine and cooks up a treat for the four legged residents of Battersea Dogs Home.

TRIBE:

Bruce Parry explores some of the world's most remote tribes.

A fascinating documentary where former Royal Marine and expedition leader, Bruce Parry journeys to some of the world's most remote and oldest tribes. In order to be accepted, Parry himself must live as a tribesman, completely immersing himself in tribal life. From drinking ritualistic poisons to hunting and cooking as a tribesman, Parry sets out on an adventure, shedding the trappings of western life along the way.

EQUATOR - AFRICA

Simon Reeve's 40,000 km journey takes him to Africa.

Simon Reeves' epic 40,000 kilometre journey reveals the equator as a unique section of our planet. He follows the line of the equator across Africa, Asia and Latin America, encountering such extremes from dense rainforests to paradise beaches to menacing volcanoes along the way. An amazing journey that exposes not only a diverse landscape but also one that is pitted with severe poverty, pollution, and conflict. A breathtaking journey.

EQUATOR - ASIA

The epic journey continues to Asia.

Simon Reeves' epic 40,000 kilometre journey reveals the equator as a unique section of our planet. He follows the line of the equator across Africa, Asia and Latin America, encountering such extremes from dense rainforests to paradise beaches to menacing volcanoes along the way. An amazing journey that exposes not only a diverse landscape but one that is pitted with severe poverty, pollution, and conflict. A breath-taking journey.
